Statement on Plagiarism and Use of AI Tools

I hereby declare that I,

_____ (given name, name),

wrote the enclosed text titled

_____ (title of the paper)

for an essay, term paper, project, report, or thesis

_____ (title of class or type of thesis)

taught/supervised by

_____ (name of the instructor)

myself and referenced all the sources and resources used to complete the text.

The English Seminar considers text and idea generating AI tools based on large language models like ChatGPT ethically and ecologically highly problematic. These AI tools rely on probabilistic models within neural networks, trained on vast amounts of collected data, thus raising concerns about digital theft and copyright infringement. They reproduce stereotypes, social biases, and misinformation. AI tools also contribute significantly to the global carbon emissions; they are not considered sustainable. We urge our students to rely on their own research and data, and we encourage them to develop a personal writing style. The English Seminar does not approve of AI tool usage to generate the contents and arguments of student texts. All AI tools used for brainstorming (such as ChatGPT, Perplexity, or LUHKI), text or image generation (such as Midjourney, Neuroflash, or Adobe Firefly), research (such as Research Rabbit or Scopus AI), and text review (such as DeepL or Grammarly) must be transparently documented. Each tool must be cited within the text as a short reference and included in the source list.

Example for Citation (MLA Style)

Source list:

"Prompt Text" prompt. AI Tool Name, Version Number/Name, Company Name, Date of Creation (formatted Day, Mon. Year), URL.

In-text citation: (first 2-3 words of the prompt text)

In this text, I have used AI tools in the following way(s) (tick all applicable):
[ ] not at all
[ ] to brainstorm

[ ] to paraphrase or summarize secondary materials
[ ] to create the outline
[ ] to generate individual sentences or passages, altogether approximately ____% of the entire text

[ ] to proofread

[ ] to improve vocabulary, grammar or style choices
[ ] other (please describe): _____

I used the following AI tools:

_____

I hereby declare that I am aware of the English Seminar's AI policy and that I have stated all uses of AI tools completely. Missing or incorrect information will be considered fraud and plagiarism. I declare that I have not submitted the enclosed text for another class or module (or any other means to obtain credit) before.

I consent to my text being submitted for testing by plagiarism detection software (please tick below).

[ ] yes   [ ] no

_____   _____

place, date   signature